

STAND UP FOR WOMEN

Supporting Women's Charities

Social Media Intern

Up to 1 hr/day, sharable between 2 different people

Stand Up For Women is an exciting new initiative to raise awareness and funds for the women's charities across the board.

We are looking for volunteer(s) to help run our social media (facebook, twitter and blog). You would need to regularly update our Facebook page and post frequent Tweets, ensuring activity is co-ordinated.

This would suit someone concerned with women's rights who already follows relevant blogs or other sources of information; who enjoys social media with a good sense of social media 'etiquette' and a warm, friendly style of electronic communication aimed at the general public.

We need help for ½-1 hr per day, every day. You could work from the comfort of your own home at a time that suits you. The work could also easily be spread amongst 2 people on different days.

Your help would make a vital contribution to this new project. There would be the opportunity to help strategise and further develop our social media, PR and communications. The right candidate(s) would also have the opportunity to meet our VIP supporters at our networking events. Being involved in an organisation such as this and helping develop it at its launch would also be an excellent CV opportunity.

Interested?

Please send your CV and a brief cover letter outlining your experience in this area, along with the email of a referee we can contact.

Email us with your details, or for more information, here: i@standupforwomen.org.uk

And visit our website to find out more about us here: www.standupforwomen.org.uk